CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The Chicago Nationals changed their battery, their stockings and their luck today by defeating Philadelphia in the fourth game of the world's series in a heart-breaking tenth-inning finish, 4 to 3.

The Cubs took the lead in the first, but Philadelphia tied in the third and went into the lead in the fourth. Neither side scored again until the ninth, when Schulte doubled and got home on Chance's triple.

What had been excitement before became absolute delirium.

Davis doubled in the tenth, but was caught at third, ending the visitors' chances in this inning.

For Chicago Tinker went out, but Archer doubled, took third on Brown's out and scored on Sheard's pretty single over second.

Cole pitched eight innings for Chicago, but in the eighth Kling went to bat for him and he was replaced in the box by Modeste Brown.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—While the weather today promised to be better or equal than for the fourth game of the Philadelphia-Chicago series of the world's championship, Manager Condie Mack was hopeful. He said 40 degrees Fahrenheit was just about right for feeding on the pennant.

It was regarded as certain that "Older Bender" would go to the pitching mound for Philadelphia. Manager Chance was undecided early whether to send Cole, Brown into the box for the tenth, or to use the best advance information had it that Cole, who has not pitched in the series.

Suspected Dynamiter Proves His Innocence

Man Arrested on Suspicion of Being J. A. Bryson Is Released by Police.

Proving his identity to the satisfaction of the local detectives, the man arrested yesterday afternoon on suspicion of being J. A. Bryson, leader of the gang of dynamiters who blew up the Los Angeles Times building, was released four hours after he had been taken into custody. On his request the police have not given out his name.

BALLOONISTS NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH

Aeronauts Have Thrilling Experiences During International Race for Cup.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Search for the two balloons, America II and Dusseldorf II, supposed to be lost in the Canadian wilds or in Lake Huron, was instituted today by United States revenue cutters, steamers of the lighthouse service, army engineers and boats on Lake Huron, in response to the appeal of President Lambert of the Aero Club of St. Louis to General Allen, chief signal officer of the army.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—One of the three balloons in the international balloon race from St. Louis which had been unreported and for which alarm has been felt was heard from today when the Aero Club of America here was notified that the Swiss balloon, Aurora had landed safely in the wilds of Canada. The message came from Emil Messner, pilot of the balloon, and Leon Giraudan, his aide, and was as follows:

BRISCOE, Ont., Oct. 21, 2:52 a. m.—Aero Club of America, New York: Have landed 32 miles northeast of Briscoe, Arizona district. Had three days and one night to work our way through the woods, passing Lake Swimming. Temperature at night 11 Fahrenheit. Please wire news to Briscoe. (Signed) MESSNER and GIRAUDAN.

MESSAGE IS CONFIRMED.

Shortly after the first dispatch was received another came from the balloonists. It was also dated at Briscoe and read:

"Confirm first dispatch. Stay here to meet balloon until Wednesday. Wire position receivers." No news has been received from the balloons America II and Dusseldorf II. Officials of the Aero Club of America declared today their belief that the balloon Germania, which landed at Languet, Quebec, on October 19, had probably won the race. The estimated distance traveled is 1200 miles, giving her the world's record over.

Elkins Improved; Vitality in Favor

Sick Senator Passes a Restless Afternoon and Night.

ELKINS, W. Va., Oct. 22.—After a restless night and morning, Senator Elkins, who is ill at his home, "Haltersburg," near here, is somewhat improved.

Dr. W. W. Golden said today that the cause of his patient's illness was contracted with the upper bowels and produced an intense pain akin to acute indigestion.

While the disease in some families is fatal, Dr. Golden assured the family that Senator Elkins' splendid vitality was in his favor.

Get 'Shoot to Kill' Orders In Big Hunt for Deserters

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The North Shore was the scene of a "man-hunt" last night, when sixty United States cavalrymen and infantrymen from Fort Sheridan with "shoot to kill" orders secured the exclusive suburban district for two military convicts who escaped after a battle with guards.

The two convicts—Earl Austin and George J. Bernier, both privates—were serving a term in the post prison for desertion. About 6:30 o'clock last night a sentry released them from their cells and took them outside the confines of the prison to do some work.

"Hardly had they reached the open when both fled. The guards pursued them, firing several shots.

PLUNGES INTO HOT VAT OF ASPHALT

Workman Submerged in Five Feet of Boiling Fluid and Lives.

James Watts, employed in the yards of the Ramsey & Crammery company, at Twenty-eighth and Poplar streets, stumbled headlong into a vat of boiling asphalt, heated to 250 degrees, shortly after 10 o'clock this morning.

In some unaccountable manner Watts was enabled to scramble out of the vat, which is five feet deep, and walked down a flight of steps which led to the yard.

He was not blinded by the asphalt. When he reached the yard the men at work nearby were terrified at his appearance, as he was smeared from head to foot, there being half an inch of asphalt on his face.

Superintendent H. McGeehan, with the assistance of other workmen, did all he could to alleviate the suffering by pouring cold water over his face and body. They were unable, however, to remove his clothing, as it was stuck fast. A vehicle was obtained and the injured man taken to the Providence hospital.

The asphalt did not reach the greater part of his body on account of the clothing, but completely covered the head and hands. Watts was walking across a platform on top of the vat when he stumbled. He had unconsciously closed his eyes, thus protecting his eyesight.

To the men at work in the yards his escape seems a miracle, as in every instance where persons have fallen into such a substance death has resulted almost instantly. Watts is 24 years old, and has a wife and child, 24 years old. He lives at 1258 Twenty-eighth street.

Aeroplane Falls to Earth, but the Aviator Escapes

BEAUMONT PARK, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Aviators were early astir on the ground here preparing for the opening of the international meet, the first events of which were timed for the early afternoon. Several of the engines were open and within them mechanics were grooming the machines for the day's flight. There was a breeze blowing out of the northwest, but one a later dared the conditions of the early morning and ventured a flight.

SENSATIONAL FLIGHT.

This was Captain Thomas S. Baldwin, who arrived in his 50-horsepower Curtiss aeroplane, the "Red Devil," at Belmont Park from the Garden City aviation field, where his aeroplane has been quartered. The manner of his coming was sensational. He flew in before a northwest wind in 6 minutes from the Garden City field, at the rate of more than a mile a minute. His eyes were swollen, he having flown ten his goggles. The flight was the second across country for the meeting, Fribble having made a similar one last night.

During the forenoon he was hauled into the northeast.

STARTS SHORT FLIGHT.

Just before 11 a. m. Captain Baldwin, selected to make a short flight in the face of a head wind, flew to a height of 1000 feet and flew to the grandstand, then swooped and went careening into the face of the wind.

When he was over the spot where Fribble and Moissant were checked, which is known as "dead man's turn," the wind suddenly struck the light aeroplane and made it dip and list badly to the right. Schneider pulled the aeroplane, but the machine would not right.

BIPLANE IS WRECKED.

When 50 feet from the ground the biplane righted but the struts caused something to give way and it plunged to the ground. Schneider was buried beneath the wreckage and from the stand it looked as if he was killed. He arose.

Hart North to Leave Office Very Shortly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Reorganization of the San Francisco immigration station with the retirement from office of Hart North, the commissioner, is contemplated in a recommendation now being considered by Secretary Nagel.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Commissioner Hart North of the immigration station on Angel Island, in this harbor, has been under fire for some time for his alleged lax administration of the laws restricting the immigration of Orientals.

Charges to the effect that he was permitting the entry in this country of Chinese and Japanese not entitled to admission, and was making no effort to exclude Hindus, who have been arriving in large numbers, were filed against Commissioner North at Washington by the Asiatic Exclusion League, which has led the agitation for his removal.

CRIPPEN SCORED.

Lord Chief Justice Alverstone at once began his summation up of the case. The judge declared Crippen as an extraordinary man, who was either guilty or innocent. It might be his last case, or a great victory in a deadly way and, it was believed, a most brutal and calculating murder. If he was innocent it was impossible to further his trial, as he was absolutely indifferent to the charge of murder, and had taken no step whatever to prove his innocence.

Crippen, the judge declared, and subtly was a liar and lived an immoral life. But he added the jury could not convict the defendant on that score. It must be quite convinced that the human parts found were from the body of Belle Elmore and that her death was caused by a violent act of the prisoner.

The last of the judge's charge to the jury was that it must be convinced of the identification beyond a reasonable doubt. As he concluded the jury retired.

Murderer Insists on Plea Of Guilty Despite Warning

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—A confessed murderer yesterday insisted upon entering a plea of guilty in Judge Kerstens' court, despite the jurist's warning that he would have to inflict the death penalty.

"I am guilty," said Thomas Bent, accused of killing Daniel F. Cummings, stockkeeper at the county hospital, August 10.

"It will do you no good to plead guilty," said Judge Kerstens. "Under the conditions, I advise you to defend yourself."

"I don't care what the penalty is," replied the prisoner, solemnly. "I am guilty."

Sixty People Lose Lives in Shipwreck

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 22.—Forty-five passengers and fifteen of the crew of the steamship Walley were drowned off Para in a terrific south Atlantic storm that raged yesterday.

Word was received today that 75 of the passengers and crew have been rescued.

The vessel was a total loss.

Every effort to save the victims of the storm was futile. The storm that forced the vessel on the rocky projections near the Aracuaes lighthouse off Para was one of the fiercest that has swept the coast here in months. Every effort was made to reach the doomed craft, but in vain.

CONVICTED OF MURDERING BELLE ELMORE AND JUDGE SENTENCES HIM TO DEATH

Jury Deliberates Thirty Minutes and Returns With Verdict of Guilty; Doctor Hears the Fatal Words Calmly

American Dentist Doomed to Pay Penalty on the Scaffold Next Month; Ethel Clare Leneve to Face Trial as an Accessory Next Tuesday

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen, the American dentist, was found guilty of the murder of his wife, the American actress, Belle Elmore, and sentenced to death. He will be hanged November 15.

The jury was out thirty minutes. When it returned and announced that it had found the defendant guilty, Lord Chief Justice Alverstone asked the physician if he had anything to say. Crippen replied in a low voice: "I still protest my innocence."

Crippen Sentenced to Death

The chief justice then donned the black cap that had rested near him throughout a trial and pronounced the sentence of death. Addressing the condemned man, Lord Alverstone said:

"You have been convicted on evidence which can leave no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that you cruelly murdered your wife and then mutilated her body."

"I advise you to entertain no hope that you will escape the consequences of your crime. I implore you to make your peace with Almighty God."

Leneve Girl Faces Trial

As the Lord Chief Justice concluded a policeman stepped forward and in the hush that had fallen over the courtroom led Crippen from the dock.

The trial of Ethel Clare Leneve as an accomplice after the fact in the murder of Mrs. Crippen will begin Tuesday.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Hawley H. Crippen has been convicted of the murder of his wife and sentenced to death. The case was given to the jury at 2:17 o'clock and its deliberations were brief. The jury was out just 30 minutes.

When court convened today Richard Mills made the closing speech for the prosecution. He declared the crown had proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the body found in the cellar of the Crippen home was that of the doctor's wife. No one else, he said, had a chance to murder the woman and bury the body as it was found.

CRIPPEN SCORED.

Lord Chief Justice Alverstone at once began his summation up of the case. The judge declared Crippen as an extraordinary man, who was either guilty or innocent. It might be his last case, or a great victory in a deadly way and, it was believed, a most brutal and calculating murder. If he was innocent it was impossible to further his trial, as he was absolutely indifferent to the charge of murder, and had taken no step whatever to prove his innocence.

Crippen, the judge declared, and subtly was a liar and lived an immoral life. But he added the jury could not convict the defendant on that score. It must be quite convinced that the human parts found were from the body of Belle Elmore and that her death was caused by a violent act of the prisoner.

The last of the judge's charge to the jury was that it must be convinced of the identification beyond a reasonable doubt. As he concluded the jury retired.

INVITE WOMEN TO ATTEND BIG RALLY TONIGHT

The officials of the Republican County Committee have received a number of communications from women in Oakland and the cities of the outlying districts asking them to set aside a part of the Macdonough Theater tonight for women only, as they wish to the women will have a section near Hiram Johnson's address. The committee announces that of the auditorium set aside, and furthermore extend an invitation to all the women of Alameda county who wish to attend the meeting.

Oakland's Phenomenal Bank Clearings.

The Oakland bank clearings have made another phenomenal record during the week ending Thursday, showing a vastly larger percentage of increase than any other clearing-house city in the United States, in the comparison made with the bank clearings of the corresponding week in 1909. According to Bradstreet's report, Oakland's bank clearings this week amounted to $3,666,000, making a gain of 93.3 per cent in the comparison with last year's record. It should be borne in mind, however, that these figures do not by any means show the actual amount of business which passes over the counters of the Oakland banks. If Oakland were credited with the volume of business transacted here to which it is rightfully entitled, but which, through neglect of design, crosses the bay to swell the San Francisco bank clearings, the weekly record would show at least $10,000,000 more than it now shows and San Francisco's weekly bank clearings would show a corresponding shrinkage. Bankers on both sides of the bay freely admit these facts. What Oakland now gets credit for in Bradstreet's report is merely for the paper which cannot help passing through its own clearing-house. And yet it is acknowledged that through the comparatively inexpensive expedient of employing an Oakland bank clerk in the San Francisco clearing-house to check off Oakland business, the latter would be eliminated from the San Francisco record of bank clearings and this city would receive due credit for that which it is rightfully entitled. This simple expedient needs, however, the co-operation of all Oakland banks, so that the expense of employing a checking clerk in the clearing-house across the bay may be equally divided.

Other Pacific Coast cities make the following showing in the past week's clearing-house record of increase in business over the corresponding week last year: San Francisco, 21.9 per cent; Los Angeles, 44.2 per cent; Portland, Oregon, 22.9 per cent; Salt Lake City, 13.9 per cent; Sacramento, 4.1 per cent. The Puget Sound and other Washington cities show decreased percentages, as follows: Seattle, 16 per cent; Tacoma, 8.3 per cent, and Spokane, 17 per cent.

Oiling Oakland's Macadamized Streets.

The Board of Public Works this year adopted a new policy in the treatment of macadamized streets in the residential districts by systematically drenching them with crude oil. Treating macadam roadways with oil has been in vogue for a great many years in Los Angeles, where the earlier experiments were made on the natural county roadways. These experiments produced such satisfactory results that the system has been applied to the macadamized streets in the city.

Alameda has practically converted nearly all of its macadamized streets into asphalted roadways by the oiling process. The latter has been found to be doubly economical. Not only does the oil form a perfect bond for the macadam and give a smooth and durable surface to the roadway, but it banishes dust, makes sprinkling unnecessary and saves the cost of water.

With the evidences of the successful results obtained in Alameda through oiling, it is surprising that the administration in this city should have delayed applying the process to our macadamized streets so long. It is better late than never, however, but if the process had been adopted four years ago on the south side streets in all probability they would not have been wrecked as they have been by the heavy traffic they have been obliged to carry.

According to the report of Street Commissioner Howe, seventeen and one-half miles of macadamized streets have been oiled during the past summer. Six miles of streets have been thus treated in the older part of the city, chiefly in East Oakland, and two and one-half miles of the scenic boulevard. The remaining nine miles are in the annexed district—in Claremont, Elmhurst, Fruitvale and Fitchburg. The heaviest class of road oil, containing about 85 per cent of asphaltum, has been used in the work, and not a single failure has been recorded. Streets that have received the oil treatment have all the appearance of having been regularly asphalted or bituminized, and they will doubtless prove to be quite as durable and less costly to keep in permanent repair. After the rainy season is over, the work of street oiling will be resumed. In time all macadamized streets will be so treated and then Oakland ought to be a dustless city in summer and a mudless one in winter. Besides a big reduction should appear also in the water bills of the city and in the cost of maintaining street sprinklers.

Model Electric Railway Track on Broadway

One of the most perfect examples of electric railway engineering and construction that it has been a privilege to witness anywhere in this State is that which is now being carried out in the reconstruction of the Broadway tracks of the Oakland Traction Company from Water street to Fourteenth street. The reconstruction has been made necessary to remove the two tracks at a farther distance from one another to greater insure the public safety. The original tracks were laid about twenty years ago by the San Pablo Cable Railway Company, built when the late James G. Fair owned the San Pablo and Telegraph avenue franchises. When he sold the South Pacific Coast narrow gauge railroad to Santa Cruz to the Southern Pacific Company he transferred to that corporation also the street railway franchises on the two avenues. Subsequently, in a moment of mental aberration and obscuration of business foresight or lack of appreciation of Oakland's future development, the Southern Pacific Company sold to the Oakland Consolidated Street Railway Company, the predecessor of the Oakland Traction Company, these two arterial street railways on the ground that its interests were centered in steam railroading and not in street railway traction by electric city or any other motive power than steam. Electricity as a motive power was then in its infancy and, therefore, its future was more or less uncertain.

The sale of the property was the worst financial step the Southern Pacific Company ever made in Oakland. The two lines which it disposed of to the Oak and Consolidated has proved to be the most valuable part of the Oakland Traction system and commands the street passenger traffic of the three east bay shore cities, and the Southern Pacific Company is now compelled to invest untold millions in the development of a new system to counteract that of the Oakland Traction Company and endeavor to recover the local patronage to its ferry system which the traction company has diverted to the Key Route ferry, a hundred organization.

The Broadway tracks are now being laid in a manner that they promise not only to outlive the franchise, but to last through the century. The rails are ten inches in depth, the electrical connections of the joints copper riveted to endure for all time, and the effect of electrolysis, which is so destructive to bitumen or asphalt pavement laid alongside the rail, overcome by substituting basalt blocks on each side embedded in cement. The rails are, moreover, grooved, which is the most modern improvement in rail construction. When the roadbed is finished it will undoubtedly prove to be the most perfect electric railway track in existence in the country.

Twenty Years Ago Today

The death of General J. C. Sullivan occurred at his residence, 622 Seventeenth street, shortly before 10 o'clock this morning. His death was due to the breaking of a blood vessel in his brain, which occurred a week ago. General Sullivan was well known in this city. He was born at Madison, Ind., and at the outbreak of the war organized the Thirtieth regiment of infantry, being its first colonel. In 1849 he was midshipman on the United States ship Ohio of the Pacific coast squadron. At Rich Mountain, W. Va., he first gained distinction in the field under Rosecrans. In 1861, after the battle against Stonewall Jackson he was made brigadier general, serving afterward with Forrest and as chief of staff under Grant, being regarded by all as an able general, though his assignments during the latter part of the war, while important, did not bring him into much action.

The board of supervisors yesterday granted the franchise for an electric motor road from Oakland to Hayward. The officials were in consultation with A. L. Stone and C. E. Palmer in regard to the kind and the route of the road, the latter asking for a branch to Alameda, which was denied and an alternative of two routes offered to Hayward. The supervisors reserve the right to dictate in what part of the roadway the rails shall be laid.

At the regular semi-annual teachers' examination held by the board of education this morning at the city hall the following made applications: Leah Francis, John Stevens, Clara Fowler, Josie McCracken, Clara L. Rev. Hobart Chetwood, formerly of this city, has gone to Monterey to take charge of a parish.

Republican meetings are to be held tomorrow night as follows: Lorin, Pleasanton and San Leandro, and the speakers will be A. M. K. Storrie, M. C. Chapman, A. L. Fickel, ex-Mayor William R. Davis, ex-Judge S. G. Hilborn.

Tomorrow night also there will be Democratic meetings held in San Leandro, Piedmont, Pleasanton and Livermore. The speakers will be John P. Nash, Mayor John R. Glascock, R. M. Fitzgerald, E. J. Rogers, J. D. McElrath and Sam Bell McKee.

There was a Republican meeting in Tinsler hall last night. The first speech of the evening was delivered by J. J. Alameda, candidate for Oakland city justice of the peace. His effort made a favorable impression. He was followed by speeches by Fred A. Campbell, M. C. Chapman, Justice C. E. Snook, W. H. H. Bussey, Eli S. Denison and C. E. Culver. There are 15,400 names on the great register.

There will be lots of fun on the special train which will carry the Republican Alliance and the Army and Navy League to San Jose tonight for the purpose of taking part in the Republican demonstration which is to take place there tonight.

No Residence Place in the East Shore Cities has so fine an approach as East Piedmont Heights Extension.

Note that though the distance is short from the center of the city to this residence park it is one continuous succession of attractive features.

First, the new million dollar Bankers' Hotel, Harrison boulevard, a fine old residence street—then, on the right, the parks, the city conservatory and the lake and on the left the fine residences of Adams Point, where lots are held at $125 a foot.

East Piedmont Heights Extension is two minutes from Adams Point property and yet you can buy fine big residence sites in East Piedmont Heights Extension today and to-morrow for as little as

$20 a Foot

And with all improvements made.

Just consider that not only does a lot become yours at this price, but included in this price are macadamized streets, concrete sidewalks, concrete curbs, and sewer, water, gas and electric connections.

East Piedmont Heights Extension is

In the Heart of the Piedmont Section

The Key Route right of way through Piedmont borders this property, giving when completed 30-minute direct electric train service to San Francisco.

Maniana Boulevard, one of the frontages of East Piedmont Heights residence sites, is the main artery between the two highest priced residence properties in the city of Oakland—the Crocker Tract and Adams Point.

The new just completed Grand avenue car line has its terminus in the tract.

The Crocker Tract—home of millionaires—adjoins East Piedmont Heights Extension on the east.

This new home place is a mile nearer than the main part of Piedmont, and yet for a small payment in cash, and as little as

$10 a Month

You can become an owner in what is without doubt or question the finest residential tract at the price in the whole sweep of the east shore cities.

Find out what property is worth where you are now living, and you will then realize that ours are rock-bottom figures, insuring remarkable profits to all who buy now at original prices.

Here is a real big investment opportunity—the one you've been waiting for. Buy now at the opening prices and make your profit on the quick rise in values.

Men made thousands on re-sales in all our other Piedmont properties. They will do the same in East Piedmont Heights Extension. Make it your business to see this tract TOMORROW.

Take the Grand avenue cars at Fourteenth and Broadway to the terminus in the tract.

Patrick Calhoun's speech before the railroad men's convention at Atlantic City on October 12th has furnished much food for political and journalistic gossip. Mr. Calhoun spoke like the frank and unvarnished man he is. He told the truth when he said there are two methods by which corporate interests can be protected. One is by standing in with some corrupt boss who is pretending to have no interest in maintaining the other method, and the one is by commanding the press to make public statements, high and low, and resorting to blackmail, and rely on honest men depending to influence the decent public for protection. But how is Mr. Calhoun to reach the ears of the decent public when yellow newspapers prefer to publish their columns in denunciations and personalities and misrepresent anything and everything to please the irresponsible mob?

Mr. Calhoun is undoubtedly correct when he declares that the sympathy busy people on political affairs is generally to be found in the misgovernment.—The Wasp.

Johnson Will Speak in Oakland Tonight

PROGRESS OF FIGHT TO BE TOLD

Mayor Mott to Deliver a Short Address As Chairman of Evening.

Republican Standard Bearer Is Expected to Dwell on General Issues.

DENIES STATEMENT

The Republican County Committee of Alameda county today issued a statement in which it denied the story circulated throughout the State that they have forsaken Frank C. Jordan, candidate for Secretary of State, and will from now on work for S. S. Bayley, the Democratic candidate for the same office. In the statement Arthur H. Breed, chairman of the committee, and George Edwards state that the report is false and that the Republican committees of this county and every other county in the State have sworn allegiance to the whole Republican ticket, including Frank C. Jordan.

After a long campaign trip through many counties of the state, Hiram Johnson has reached Oakland and will address the principal speaker tonight at a great Republican rally to be held at the Macdonough theater under the auspices of the Republican county central committee. It has been only with a great effort that Johnson has been able to save his voice, after speaking from rail road trucks and wagons throughout the little towns of the state. In anticipation of the welcome which he is confident the people of this city is to give him tonight.

MOTT TO PRESIDE

The original program of the central committee for this evening, which many of the county candidates were to deliver short addresses, but this has been entirely changed and Johnson will be the only speaker following a short address by Mayor Mott, Arthur H. Breed, chairman of the local committee, and introduction by Mayor Mott as chairman of the evening, and after a brief address, in which he will urge the voters of this city and this county to vote the Republican ticket straight from top to bottom, the chairman will give a general outline of the character of Hiram Johnson. He will then introduce the speaker of the evening.

As yet Johnson has not announced the subject of his address, but it is believed that he will talk upon the general lines of the campaign. Whether or not Johnson will reply again to the questions that have been set before him by Theodore Bell is a mere matter of speculation amongst those intimate with him and his program for tonight's meeting.

Amongst the guests at the rally will be Johnson's wife and son, who will occupy a special box.

CROWD EXPECTED

Red fire will light up the streets and band music will be heard before tonight's rally. Indications are that the big theater will be crowded upstairs and down, and the county central committee today is filling vacant spaces with chairs in an effort to accommodate everybody. Should there be an overflow, and Johnson's voice be in condition, it is possible that he will speak a few words to the crowd in front of the theater.

An orchestra has been hired to furnish the music in the meeting place, and nothing will be left undone to make the occasion a success.

Johnson spent most of the day resting, after last night's hard work at San Jose, and will be in good condition to expose the cause here this evening. The strain of the campaign has told on his voice, but he expects to be in good condition for his Oakland address.

CHEERING THOUSANDS HEAR MESSAGE FROM W. R. HEARST

Leader Demonstrates Trust Affiliations of Candidate Dix

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—There was a tremendous outpouring of citizens at two mass meetings last night to greet John J. Hearst, Independence League candidate for governor, and his associates on the ticket.

Five thousand voters and hundreds of women thronged the great Manhattan Casino at One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street and Eighth avenue and gave a vociferous reception to the League standard-bearer.

Fully two thousand congregated at Niblo's Garden, One Hundred and Seventy-fifth street and Third avenue, and cheered tumultuously every utterance of the League speakers.

Thousands waited for the appearance of William Randolph Hearst, but he was unable to attend the meetings because of a cold. He sent an address which was read by Clarence J. Shearn. In part it was as follows:

"My friends: I have told you in past years of the corruption in our public life."

"I have told you that powerful and unscrupulous individuals and corporations have corrupted vast sums of money to defeat your will at elections."

"I have told you that immense bribes have been used by these same men and corporations to corrupt your representatives after election."

"I have told you that this corruption is not confined to any one party, but that these corrupt interests sometimes one party and sometimes both the other party and continued to own both parties."

"Perhaps in former years you imagined that I exaggerated the situation, but recent revelations must have proven to all of you that I stated the facts truthfully and advised you sincerely."

"Do you not think that the time has arrived for you and me, as citizens, to realize the danger that is threatening our Government and also to learn the cause of the trust oppression and extortion that is burdening our homes?"

"We must find out which party the trusts are supporting in any campaign and vote against the trusts' party. And if we find that both parties are controlled by the trusts we must assert independence and our American spirit and have courage and confidence enough to create and elect a new party, regardless of our old party ties."

"Let us apply these principles to the present campaign."

"You know how Mr. Dix was nominated and who nominated him."

"You know that a lot of Murphy's marionettes sat in a public hall and said 'aye' when Mr. Murphy pulled one string and 'no' when Mr. Murphy pulled another string."

"You know that a lot of trusts sat with Mr. Murphy in a private room and told Mr. Murphy when to pull the string that registered 'aye' and the one that registered 'no'."

"You know that Mr. Dix is a manufacturer of wall paper and other similar products. You know that he is interested with Mr. Huppuch in a number of mills up the State. You know that Mr. Dix SAYS that he is opposed to high prices, and yet you know that all his mills belong to the wall paper trust and that the sole purpose of that combination is to create high prices."

"You know that Mr. Dix and his campaign manager say they are opposed to a high tariff."

"But you know that when the present tariff was before the House of Congress these gentlemen who SAY they are opposed to high tariff, petitioned Congress to raise the tariff 25 per cent to 45 per cent on the wall paper that they themselves manufacture."

"Mr. Dix and Mr. Huppuch were making a ten per cent profit on their business, which is about double what is considered an ordinarily good profit, but they wanted a higher tariff in order to be able to get a higher price for their product and add what they could to the already high cost of living."

"When the other paper mills of the country had given their men an eight-hour day and raised their wages to over $2 a day, Mr. Dix's employees thought they might ask for a little better wages and conditions for themselves. They were modest enough. They asked for a raise from $1.65 a day to $1.75 a day—$1.75, mind you, for a twelve-hour day."

"Mr. Dix and Mr. Huppuch refused this demand until a strike was imminent, and then they granted the men ten a day raise in wages, provided the men worked five additional hours in the week. This arrangement compels the men to work thirteen hours a day on five days in the week."

REFUSED TO RAISE WAGES.

"AS AMERICAN CITIZENS."

"Now, my friends, I am appealing to you as a labor audience. I am not talking to you from a labor union point of view. I am speaking to you as American citizens who are naturally interested to see that every other American citizen gets fair treatment and fair play."

"Do you realize what it means to work thirteen hours a day?"

"It means that you get up in the morning when it is still dark and that you have your breakfast by gas light or by candle light and you go to work at 6 o'clock and you work from 6 o'clock until 1 o'clock, and then work from 1 o'clock until 8 at night, and that you go home at night, have your supper and go to bed, and you wake up next morning, that you never know the blessing of the sun and the light and the open air that God has given man for his health and his happiness."

"This is not the kind of life for free American citizens."

"It is more like the life of galley slaves, and the man who works his own men thirteen hours a day insults the intelligence of American citizens when he says he is in favor of an eight-hour law."

"There is a definite, intelligent reason for voting the Independence party ticket. The Independence party has named the best men from its own party and it has also selected and put upon its ticket the best men in the Republican party and in the best men in the Democratic party."

"The address was received with constant applause."

Honest Editors Are Praised for Cleaner Politics

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 22.—Governor Deneen's denunciation of the "jackpoters" at the last session of the Legislature and the attack of Chief Justice Vickers of the Illinois Supreme Court on yellow journalism were the features of the banquet given here this evening to the members of the Southern Illinois Editors' Association.

The Governor said credit for driving the corrupt politicians from the Legislature is due to the efforts of honest editors. Judge Vickers said the influence of some newspapers published in the larger cities was demoralizing and depraving.

PLEDGE SUPPORT FOR EXPOSITION

Progress and Prosperity Committee Promises to Aid San Francisco Fair Workers.

One of the most enthusiastic booster meetings that has been held in this city in many a day took place in the chamber of commerce room last night when the progress and prosperity committee met a committee from the Panama-Pacific Exposition committee of San Francisco and pledged the support of the chamber of commerce in an effort to carry the two constitutional amendments at the coming election. The slogan of the chamber of commerce from now until the polls close on election day will be "22 and 33 YES."

C. P. Gorman was chairman of the evening.

Gorman outlined the object of the meeting.

"We are doing our best to carry the whole of Alameda county for the amendments," said Gorman. "We purpose to carry out the military formation that has been so successful in the past. These men will see that every one is reminded that he must vote for the amendments."

Analysis of the 1906 Election for Governor

The vote cast at the last gubernatorial election, in which there were five candidates in the field, constitutes an interesting study at this time inasmuch as Bell is again the Democratic nominee.

In the election of 1906 the Democracy was divided into two factions, Bell running as the regular party nominee and W. H. Langdon as the nominee of the wing known as the Independence League. Austin Lewis ran as Socialist candidate for Governor and James H. Blanchard as the nominee of the Prohibition party. The total vote cast for Governor was 311,931. Of this number Gillett as the Republican nominee, received 125,887 votes; Bell as the regular Bourbon candidate, 117,645; Langdon as the head of the ticket of the Independence League wing of the Democracy, 45,008; Lewis as the Socialist nominee, 16,036, and the Prohibitionist, Blanchard, 7355.

ANALYSIS OF VOTE.

In this analysis and review of the vote of the 1906 election the Socialists and the Prohibitionists should be eliminated, as both parties will be in evidence at the election next month. The Independence League has, however, no candidate in the field this year. In fact, that party is dead. The all-consuming question in political circles is this: Has the Independence League returned to its old political affiliation and will its vote be cast for Theodore Bell as the Democratic nominee?

Gillett was elected Governor four years ago by a plurality of 8242 votes over Bell. The interesting feature in that contest is this: If there had been no split in the Democratic party and the Independence Leaguers had voted for Bell, the latter would have received a total vote of 162,653, or a plurality over Gillett of 36,766 and a majority over all candidates for Governor that year of 13,375 votes.

GREATEST CUTS.

The greatest cuts which Langdon made in 1906 into the Bell vote were in Alameda, Contra Costa, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Shasta counties. The total Langdon vote in these five counties amounted to 29,597. If Langdon had not been in the field, and the Independence League vote had been cast for Bell, it would have elected him by a plurality of 21,355 votes over Gillett. Alameda county gave Langdon 7735 votes, or a larger number than was cast for Bell, who got only 6561 votes. Contra Costa county gave Langdon 1001, Los Angeles 8360, San Francisco 10,521, or nearly as many votes as were polled there for Bell, who got 11,650. Shasta county gave a larger vote for Langdon than for either Bell or Gillett, the returns being as follows: Langdon 1978, Gillett 1425 and Bell 1468. Practically, the votes of these five counties defeated Bell in 1906.

THIS YEAR'S LINE-UP.

How will the parties line up next month, and for whom will the Independence League vote of four years ago be cast this year, are questions asked in political circles. It is generally conceded that the Socialists and Prohibitionists will stand by their respective candidates. Both parties are likely to show increased strength.

Judging the prospects of the coming election from the results obtained in 1906, the contest for Governor next month depends entirely upon the action taken by those who cast their votes in 1906 for the Independence League candidate.

BELL MAY BE SURE.

If they return to their old party standard, Bell is practically sure of election. If on the other hand, Hiram Johnson is elected it will be proof indisputable that the breach in the Democratic party caused by the defection of four years ago has not been healed and that the main body of the Independence Leaguers will have given Johnson their support.

The following is the vote in the last gubernatorial election November 6, 1906, the Republican candidate being James N. Gillett; the Democratic, Theodore Bell; W. H. Langdon, Independence Leaguers; Austin Lewis, Socialist, and James H. Blanchard, Prohibitionist:

FIGHT VIGOROUSLY WAGED IN SAN FRANCISCO

Both Sides Active and Political Rallies Are Plentiful Every Night.

Candidates Face Throngs in Big Cities

SACRAMENTO WELCOMES BELL

Thousands in Hall in Johnson's Home Town

Sacramento, Oct. 22.—It remained for the home town of Hiram Johnson to give Theodore Bell and Tim Spellacy, the Democratic nominees, the greatest demonstration that will in all probability be accorded them anywhere during the present campaign. A throng of 5000 persons crowded the old pavilion at Sixth and M streets to auto-cade last night and cheered itself hoarse during the course of the speeches.

It was with some expectation that Bell would pay the price of the attacks that have been made upon him. It was disappointed.

SOFTENS ALLUSIONS.

"My honorable," or "distinguished opponent" was the harshest allusion he made to him during the course of his remarks. He only referred to the quotation of the inscription on the Lexington monument which quotes the words of Captain Parker, in which he said: "Don't fire until you are fired upon; but if they mean to have war, let them have it right here."

The audience scented the beginning of a possible attack, but it dwindled of itself. He said that unless he could win the governorship without including personalities he did not want the place.

BEGINS WITH PARADE.

The splendid rally last night began with a parade through the streets of the city, with Bell, Timothy Spellacy and Major P. J. Harney, the chairman, riding in a carriage drawn by four spirited white horses and with over 2000 men swinging cowbells and waving spouting banners in the wake. The route and sidewalks were thronged with eager and enthusiastic citizens, and at Seventh and I streets, where the nominees for Governor and Lieutenant Governor were escorted from their hotel to their carriages, the congestion became so dense that a detachment of police had to be called out to clear the car tracks.

AUDITORIUM PACKED.

Inside the auditorium were packed more than 3000 persons and outside in the streets were at least 1000, who could not gain admission. The police fought an opening for Bell and Spellacy to reach the curb in front of the entrance, but there they were overwhelmed.

The spontaneity of the tribute was magnificent. Bell was the power of the hour and had no choice but to reach the curb. A few words and the crowd fell back sufficiently for him to reach the steps of the pavilion. There he turned and for ten minutes talked to the throng that pressed about him before he was allowed to enter the pavilion.

Bell denied that he had condemned insurgency, as had been charged against him, by his detractors, but said:

"I am not on the rostrum seeking a quarrel with insurgents or insurgency. It is only Democratic yeast working inside the Republican party. I cannot subscribe to the doctrine that unless a man is a Lincoln-Roosevelt he cannot be a good citizen. It is my opponent and not I who has made that declaration."

DENIES RIVAL'S CHARGES.

"Because there are Republicans who have refused to align themselves with the new elements, it has been charged that I have made my record. It is charged that I have made a record of political bosses behind me. There is not a single fact upon which such an assertion can be based. My record points to a country and upon my record, which is a record of friendship and loyalty, I rest my cause. However, if there are Republicans who can take me as I am, unshaken and unshakable, I shall be glad to have their votes."

THANKS AUDIENCE.

"I thank you with a heart full of gratitude," he said with unsteady voice, "inside the auditorium. And I ask you to give me just a little more time so that I may go and get the rest of the family and bring them back here for a four-year term."

Again Bell had to wait for the applause.

READ TAFT OUT OF PARTY BELL TAKES SHOT AT JOHNSON

"My opponent read President Taft out of the Republican party in his Dreamland Rink speech. He went on and read out thousands of Republicans. These were good, honest men, who thought differently from Johnson, and now Johnson is angry because I won't kick these thousands back into the Republican party. I want the vote of every elector in the State of California if he can take me as I am and with my record for the past as it is. My opponent and his friends are in desperate straits when they resort to billingsgate and vilification, such as is marking their campaign."

"We have tried to be fair, but at times my Yankee blood has boiled and I have recalled the inscription on the monument of Captain John Parker, commander of the Minute men on Lexington green. That inscription repeats his orders to the patriots of Lexington. 'Don't fire,' he said, 'until you are fired upon, but if they mean to have war, they may as well have it here.'" to subside, then he continued: "I have greatly impaired my voice in this campaign, but I believe it is better for a man to lose his voice than to lose his head."

The crowd yelled its approval of the inference and Bell went on. "We have been engaged in the most strenuous campaign this State has ever known. I have tried to be fair, but we have endeavored in every possible way to present our cause in a manly, decent manner."

YANKEE BLOOD STIRRED.

"We have tried to be fair, but at times my Yankee blood has boiled and I have recalled the inscription on the monument of Captain John Parker, commander of the Minute men on Lexington green. That inscription repeats his orders to the patriots of Lexington. 'Don't fire,' he said, 'until you are fired upon, but if they mean to have war, they may as well have it here.'"

"I cannot win the governorship by appealing to the calm judgment, the reason and the convictions of the people of California. I don't want the office. I do not hereafter intend to give much time to replying to the malicious attacks upon my reputation and my integrity."

POINTS TO RECORD.

"It is now sixteen years since I entered public life and I shall content myself by pointing to my record as a refutation of any charge that can be made against me."

"I fought them on the floor of Congress when the other seven representatives from California remained in the seats."

"I fought them four years ago, and

'If They Want War Let Them Have It,' He Says

I am fighting them with the same determination now.

"My opponent read President Taft out of the Republican party in his Dreamland rink speech. He went on and read out thousands of Republicans. These were good, honest men, who thought differently from Johnson, and now Johnson is angry because I won't kick these thousands back into the Republican party. I want the vote of every elector in the State of California if he can take me as I am and with my record for the past as it is. My opponent and his friends are in desperate straits when they resort to billingsgate and vilification, such as is marking their campaign."

PROMISES PROGRESSIVE MEASURES.

He told of the reforms that he would carry out and of the progressive measures by which he would extend the industries of the State. Time and again he was cheered to the echo and the close of his address was given an ovation second only to that which followed his introduction. Following his speech Judge Benjamin F. Blakeslee, candidate for justice of the Supreme Court, and Judge Henry C. Gesford, candidate for justice of the Appellate Court, addressed the assembly. Other candidates present were: J. B. Pemberton, nominee for attorney-general; L. G. Zarnwell, nominee for Congress in the Second district; Hiram Blanchard, nominee for clerk of the Supreme Court; and D. W. Ravenscroft, nominee for State printer.

MET AT FOLSOM.

Bell and Spellacy were met at Folsom last evening by a large reception committee and escorted to Sacramento.

The day's campaigning began at Auburn, where Bell, Spellacy and Judge Gesford addressed an audience of 300 in the opera house at 9 o'clock this morning. There the candidates were escorted by Judge J. F. Frewett and Chairman W. J. Shattuck of the El Dorado County Committee to Folsom, where another enthusiastic meeting was held.

The trip also led through Loomis and Yuba City, where Bell will speak in Placerville after day meetings in Elk Grove, Galt and Lodi.

JOHNSON INDORSED BY SHIPWRIGHTS

Republican Candidate Praised for Efforts in Behalf of Union Labor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—In recognition of Hiram W. Johnson's friendship for organized labor the Shipwrights' association of San Francisco and Oakland has formally indorsed the head of the Republican ticket and pledged itself and its members to vote and work for his election. By a unanimous vote the association has also indorsed the harbor improvement bond propositions that will be submitted to the people at the general election. Here is the text of the resolutions adopted by the shipwrights:

"Whereas, The people of the State of California are entitled to the best interests of the masses and against the selfish interests of the big business corporation and individuals; and

SEIDEL DEPLORES U. S. GOVERNMENT

Law Making Patented After America's Branded As All Wrong.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 22.—"Boys, believe you did wrong to pattern your government after that of the United States," said Mayor Seidel, Milwaukee's Socialist executive, at the inaugural exercises yesterday of the "Boys' Republic" of the Y. M. C. A. "I believe you ought to start a revolution right now. You should have the initiative and referendum. You should make your own laws, and not allow a set of officials to make them for you."

"The Senate you have elected has no right to represent the laws that your House of Representatives has suggested. The repeal of those laws should be to yourselves. The most important men in any community are the hard-working citizens. They are the ones who are the backbone of the nation, and not the lawmakers, not the executive. The platform of government of the United States is not the best after which to pattern yours."

"The New Republic was inaugurated to give the boys an intelligent idea of government," said C. I. Willis, head of the Y. M. C. A. "We thought in using the United States as a pattern we were picking the best government on earth, and I still believe it."

BELL TO TALK AT ALAMEDA RALLY

Democratic Forces Plan Gathering for Night of November 3.

ALAMEDA, Oct. 22.—The Theodore Bell forces will gather in Alameda on the night of Thursday, November 3, at Armory hall.

The Bell candidacy will be advocated by members of the Bell-Spellacy club in speeches. The meeting is creating interest in the Democratic camp, and will call out the Alameda Democratic contingent and politicians from the other bay cities.

Bell will be on hand and will be the principal speaker of the rally. This will be the first meeting in this city at which he has spoken.

The local Bell-Spellacy club is making arrangements for the meeting.

TROUTT IS INDORSED BY YOUNG LAWYERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—A well-attended meeting of the younger members of the bar was held on Thursday in the courtroom of Judge Hunt. Harry S. Young presiding. Speeches were made by the attorneys who were present and the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That during his incumbency upon the bench, Judge James M. Troutt has always treated with consideration, attention and never-failing courtesy the younger members of the bar who have had business before him;

Resolved, That we will exercise our best influence, not only among our friends and neighbors, but among each and every one of the younger members of the bar to secure the re-election of Judge James M. Troutt.

MISS ALICE ALBRIGHT, who was a hostess recently in her Fruitvale home.

—Schars, Photo.

THE mid-October days are full of important social events, teas, receptions, dinners, weddings — marking the passing of the late autumn days.

One of the most important weddings of the season was that of Mr. Thomas Knowles and Miss Ruth Kales, which took place at the home of the bride on Thursday evening, and which was notable for the fact that both families have been so long identified with the social history of the city, and that both of the young people are held in such affection by a large circle of friends.

For over a quarter of a century the Kales' and Knowles' families have represented much in the Lakeside section of the city, and the young people of the households have grown up together in the friendly fashion characteristic of congenial families.

Every one at the wedding knew it was a genuine romance — the only kind of a marriage that makes for permanent happiness — so there was more than the ordinary degree of interest in the wedding and the atmosphere of the home was that of friends and relatives were greatly in accord with the happy spirit of this fortunate bride and groom.

The lovely young bride, Miss Ruth Kales, was beautiful and most gracefully carried out. The ceremony was set for 5:30 o'clock, and at that time about seventy-five relatives and friends were assembled in the Kales' drawing room.

At the altar were Thomas Knowles, the groom, and Harry Knowles, who arranged details. And the result was justified her efforts, for there have been many bright good times in the atmosphere of a sweet and delightful home.

Every one of the many relatives took the greatest interest in this wedding. It seemed so much like a happy day. Thomas Knowles is a young man, a young business man — the son of a well-known family in the city. He is a California man, whose best efforts have always been to succeed. One is sure of the future of such a man, and he always realizes the expectations of his friends, sons, and the long bride veil was fastened with orange blossoms — the handsomest bride costume being worn by the bride, who was a charming bride, a very attractive girl, in the eyes of those who have known her, and an affection that has been unvarying.

Miss Kales, who is now Mrs. Kales, was always an exceptionally fine student, leading her classes at school. She is a good pianist and a very fine pianist, and she has the many qualifications for a sweet, sympathetic home maker.

The engagement of Mr. Knowles and Miss Kales has existed for some months, and in that time the bride has been making many preparations for her new home. Her trousseau has been elaborate, very lovely, and exceedingly dainty. Time old church, representing an exquisite collection, will adorn her new home — and no bride in many months has had such lovely gifts — rare, gorgeous, valuable — all chosen with the greatest care, and all representing the affectionate thoughts of relatives and friends. The young people, beginning home life, could have no brighter environment than that to be found in the future home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Knowles.

On Thursday the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Martin W. Kales was a splendid study in decoration, wedding adornments everywhere lending grace to the home. In the hall were chrysanthemums, in masses, and chrysanthemums also marked the floor scheme of the drawing room.

The color scheme was of pink and blue and was beautifully and most gracefully carried out. The ceremony was set for 5:30 o'clock, and at that time about seventy-five relatives and friends were assembled in the Kales' drawing room.

To the strains of "Lohengrin" the bride and groom, and Harry Knowles, who arranged details, and the result was justified her efforts, for there have been many bright good times in the atmosphere of a sweet and delightful home.

At the altar were Thomas Knowles, the groom, and Harry Knowles, who arranged details. And the result was justified her efforts, for there have been many bright good times in the atmosphere of a sweet and delightful home.

The bride's gown was a lovely creation of white satin most exquisitely designed. It was very beautifully trimmed in white tulle, and orange blossoms. The long bride veil was fastened with orange blossoms — the handsomest bride costume being worn by the bride, who was a charming bride, a very attractive girl, in the eyes of those who have known her, and an affection that has been unvarying.

Miss Rose Kales was a charming bridesmaid, a very attractive girl, in the eyes of those who have known her, and an affection that has been unvarying.

here this season. It was of new empire effect, the gown of pink satin showing a graceful overdress of pale blue chiffon.

The four bridesmaids were gowned alike in blue satin, the gowns very exquisitely designed, and they carried overdresses of dew drop chiffon which were so brilliant in effect — the dew drops reflecting the light making a shimmering effect that is beautiful.

The bride had four attendants, the young girls who meant much to her. Her sister, lovely Rose Kales, was her maid of honor; her cousin, Grace Hoadley, came all the way from New York to be a bridesmaid; Miss Knowles, now her sister-in-law, and Johanna Volkman and Elise Schilling, have been her intimate friends since kindergarten days.

The ceremony was performed after the Episcopal ritual by the Rev. John Bakewell, rector emeritus of Trinity church.

After the ceremony, there was an informal reception, during which hearty congratulations were offered the groom on his good fortune and loving good wishes were offered the beautiful bride for her future happiness.

An elaborate wedding supper was served, and the bride's table was especially beautiful in an exceedingly fine color scheme of pink and blue.

There was a center piece of pink carnations and pale pink enchantress carnations, with pale blue tulle, making a charming color picture.

Many congratulatory telegrams were read at the wedding, and bright toasts and speeches made merry the marriage feast.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Knowles have gone south for a wedding trip, and on their return they are to establish what gives every promise of being an exceedingly happy home.

Among the relatives and close personal friends at the wedding, besides the bride and groom were:

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kales, Arthur, Frank, Spencer and Rose Kales, Mrs. Joseph Hoadley, Miss Grace Hoadley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knowles, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lord Chase, Miss Alice Knowles, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bliss, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coghill, Mrs. John A. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. A. Schilling, Mr. and Mrs. Volkman, Miss Simpson, Rudolph Schilling, Rev. and Mrs. Bakewell, Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Bates, Dan Volkman, Mr. and Mrs. G. Brown, Miss Florine Brown, Mrs. Lillian Everts.

The wedding was along charming lines and represented one of the happiest marriages on our side of the bay in many months. There were truly joyful wedding bells which rang for Thomas Knowles and lovely Ruth Kales.

FLORENCE IVES, BRIDE OF MR. SCRIBNER.

The wedding of Miss Florence Ives and Mr. Scribner on Wednesday was a really beautiful affair. The pretty homelike residence at 2229 Washington street was artistically decorated for the occasion. The bow window in the drawing room where the ceremony took place was embowered with maidenhair fern and lavender primroses. At either side stood a tall Corinthian column graced and at the tops of these were large bunches of American Beauty roses. In the dining room from which a buffet breakfast was served a huge centerpiece of pink and white daisies in a silver dish made a beautiful table in the other rooms ropes of asparagus fern, yellow chrysanthemums in huge bunches and Virginia creeper made a charming decoration.

The wedding party was led by two flower girls in white with bouquets of Cecil Bruner roses about which wide white lace was filled in the dear stiff old fashion. One flower girl was the eldest daughter of the Henry Crocker, a niece of the bride, and the other was the sweet little daughter of Samuel Buckee and the late Julia Crocker Buckee. Following the flower girls who bore the ribbons came the maid of honor, Mrs. Henry J. Crocker, the bride's sister. Mrs. Crocker wore a beautiful gown of pale blue satin partially draped with white marquisette embroidered with gold which was knotted like a scarf and fell into the graceful train. Her hat was a large black velvet, plumed with black, and her bouquet was of yellow orchids tied with pale blue and yellow tulle. The bride followed on the arm of her brother-in-law, Henry Crocker. She was wearing her very best in a most graceful gown of white satin, made with a long square court train. The skirt was quite tight, allowing the knees where a scarf of beautiful old lace wound it and fell into the train. The train was further trimmed with lace and sprays of orange blossoms. The sleeves were of lace veiled with white marquisette and the entire upper part of the bodice was of lace with the satin arranged in a surprise effect. Over it all fell a long tulle veil, caught to the collar with orange blossoms. The bride wore one of the new pearl chains with several strands of small pearls caught together in a flat effect and one of the new large round diamond-studded lockets. Her bouquet was a shower of white orchids tied with white tulle. Joseph Chanslor was best man for the groom and Rev. Bradford Leavitt of the First Unitarian Church performed the ceremony.

Some seventy-five guests witnessed the ceremony and enjoyed the reception which followed. The most beautiful gowns which have yet appeared this season were worn at this wedding. Notable among the beautiful toilettes was the gown and hat of Mrs. Joseph Anderson Chanslor who has just returned from abroad, the mauve satin worn by Mrs. Henry Scott, the deep ruby velvet worn by Mrs. M. H. de Young, the American Beauty chiffon worn by Mrs. George Cameron, the blue over gold worn by Mrs. Fred Fenwick and the black and bright blue satin worn by Mrs. Jack Wilson.

The wedding gifts which were unusually handsome and costly were displayed in an upper room and there appeared a silver tea set, a magnificent chest of flat silver, an after dinner silver coffee service, silver and rock crystal oyster cocktail glasses, a silver and porcelain compote set, many tall silver vases, several silver and crystal candelabra, at least twenty silver or silver and crystal sandwich and cake plates, salad bowls drop lights with beautiful shades, lacquer trays, five silver baskets from the five Crocker children and everything else that one could desire. The groom's gift was a handsome limousine.

After the buffet breakfast and the drinking of the health of bride and groom the newly married couple departed in the usual shower of rice for a honeymoon journey which will take them to New York and Europe. They expect to return some time in January. The bride's going away gown was a dark blue silk trimmed with sable fur. It was a stunning creation.

There is not a more popular woman in San Francisco than Mrs. Scribner and the love that her friends have for her was attested in the beauty of her engagement cups and wedding gifts and in the numberless handsome entertainments which her friends have offered her. During the latter weeks before her marriage she had not a free evening to give to those other friends who wished to entertain her and whose complimentary affairs must necessarily be reserved until after the Scribners return from their honeymoon.

MISS ETHEL LETTER who picture appears in tonight's Meddler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Letter of Piedmont, and is now traveling in the East where she will visit the Letter family in Chicago.

Miss Letter is a cousin of the late Lady Curzon of England whose husband was viceroy of India. She is also a cousin of the Duchess of Suffolk and related to Mrs. Colin Campbell, prominent in English social circles.

The Letters have sold their home in Piedmont and upon their return here are planning to build again.

Miss Alice Albright of Fruitvale was a recent hostess at a bridge club which meets informally every two weeks for a session at the bridge tables and includes a dozen of the belles of the local smart set.

Miss Helen J. Gray is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gray of San Francisco and is prominent in exclusive social circles about the bay. She is a frequent visitor in this city.

Miss Marion Troy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Troy of Alameda. She made known her betrothal to Earl Scofield at a tea at her home which was largely attended by the younger Alameda set. Miss Bessie Troy, Mrs. Frank Youngberg and Miss Pauline Smith assisted in receiving the guests.

IN HONOR OF MISS ALICE ROONEY.

Important among the many complimentary affairs given for brides-elect are those in honor of Miss Alice Rooney, whose engagement to Mr. Louis Titus has been a matter of much interest to many of their friends on both sides of the bay.

The Misses Rooney, whose home has always been in San Francisco, are exceedingly well known there, and as they are bright girls, of brilliant attainments, their home has been a center for gatherings of exceptional interest.

Miss Alice Rooney made a fine record for scholarship at the university, and ranks high on its list of alumnae. She is a very modern, unassuming girl, for one who does so many things exceptionally well. She is a clever writer of short stories, and her work along journalistic lines has received much praise. She rides with grace and daring, and athletics appeal to her also — for she is an exceedingly good shot, and has made a record in duck shooting. She is one of the best linguists among the San Francisco girls having studied languages here and spent many months abroad. So this bright girl makes one of the most attractive brides-elect of the year.

Mrs. William E. Dargie, who is an old time friend of the Rooney family, and a special friend of Miss Alice Rooney, is giving a dinner for her this evening at the home of the Dargies on the Boulevard.

Mrs. Hugh McCall Webster (Lula Rued) was a hostess of the week, entertaining at a large tea, in honor of Miss Alice Rooney, who was her classmate in college, and a member of her sorority. The reception for Miss Rooney was arranged on delightful lines and was an especially happy affair, since it gave many of the young girls and young matrons, who will be her future neighbors at Piedmont, an opportunity of meeting the bride-elect.

The Websters have recently built a new home in the upper Linda Vista hills, and the day was charming for a large tea there. One thoroughly enjoyed the hospitality of the attractive new home and the guests lingered long on the picturesque veranda — with its charming vistas of lovely hill slopes, with their sunset glow.

A large number of guests responded to Mrs. Webster's invitations, and her drawing room was full of guests during the hours of the tea. The hostess looked exceedingly well in a very attractive gown, showing the newest of empire effects, and the long, close, clinging skirt that is now so fashionable.

Miss Alice Rooney wore a gown of tan marquisette, with elaborate Persian trimming, the gown showing the becoming hobble effect. Miss Rooney has the most elaborate jewels of any of the brides-elect, her gifts being many and very costly.

The decorations of Mrs. Webster's home were in exceedingly good taste, and arranged not to detract from the harmonious atmosphere of this exceedingly attractive new home. We have come a long way from the days when small forests of bamboo adorned our walls and the change is very distinctly restful.

Large chrysanthemums were arranged with fine effect, and the dining room was an attractive study in decoration.

There were no flowers on the dining room table, but instead there was a large cake, the top of which showed a wedding picture. One saw a delightful little home and a charming bride in wedding gown and wedding veil, was taking her way to it. The design was very well carried out.

New and most picturesque costumes were the order of the afternoon and the gowns and hats are really along more charming lines than they have been in many years. Each woman was really a study for an artist, as trading and becoming were the lines of her costume.

Among the many guests of the afternoon were:

Mrs. Willard Williamson, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Edward Engs, John F. Connors, Mrs. Harry Maxwell, Mrs. Robert Newell, Mrs. J. Quincy Brown, Mrs. Clarisse Lohse, Miss May Coogan, Mrs. Louis Lohse, Mrs. T. C. McElmonds, Mrs. Vance McClintock, Mrs. Dudley Kinsey, Mrs. Churchill Taylor, Mrs. A. A. Long, Miss Carrie Nicholson, Mrs. Edward Walsh, Mrs. D. Y. Cron, Mrs. Frederick Diekmann, Mrs. George Jensen, Mrs. William Knowles, Mrs. Dennis Seales, Mrs. A. S. Larkey, Miss Carmen Sutton, Mrs. Harrison Cay, Mrs. Burt S. Hubbard, Mrs. Everett Brown, Mrs. Louis Ghirardelli, Mrs. Ralph Jones, Miss Grace Webster, Mrs. H. S. Korgan, Miss Mollie Connors.

Mrs. Webster was assisted in receiving her guests by her mother, Mrs. J. C. Rued, and by Mrs. H. Rooney, Miss Rooney and Miss Edna Rooney, relatives of the bride-elect.

BRIDGE PARTY FOR OCTOBER DAYS.

Two large bridge parties are planned for late October days, cards having been sent out for both of them this week. Mrs. Spring, of Fruitvale and her daughter, Mrs. Robert Newell, are to entertain a large number of friends at bridge at Mrs. Spring's home.

The Springs have one of the most beautiful suburban residences in the county. The house is a charming residence, along fine old fashioned lines and it is set in the midst of wonderful grounds.

Mrs. Robert Newell is one of the most attractive of the younger matrons—very sweet, and unassuming—but also very cultured, perhaps one of the most finely educated of the attractive young matrons on our side of the bay.

The large bridge party to be given by Mrs. Spring and her daughter, Mrs. Newell, will represent one of the largest social dates of the late October days.

Mrs. Frank Lampson Brown has also sent out cards this week for a bridge afternoon, planning to entertain friends at her home on Wednesday, the 26th of October. Mrs. Brown is entertaining in honor of two well-known and very popular matrons, Mrs. James G. Allen and Mrs. Charles M.

ner Goodall, both of whom have recently returned from a summer spent in European travelling.

Mrs. Brown's list includes, for the most part, friends of the two guests of honor and a representative gathering of well-known people on this side of the bay will be assembled in Mrs. Brown's beautiful home on Vernon Heights.

Many of her guests play bridge exceedingly well and the afternoon promises to be an exceedingly enjoyable one for the guests fortunate enough to be included in Mrs. Brown's invitations.

Mrs. Frank Brown and her daughter, Mrs. William Thornton White, recently returned from an interesting trip to New York. While in the east they were entertained by Mrs. M. L. Talbot (Florence White) who has a delightful home in Newark, New Jersey. In New York the fascinating and very picturesque costume which Mrs. White wore as queen of the carnival at Idora was designed.

On all sides one hears continued praise of it—for so few queens have lived up to a carnival spirit. Their gowns are more or less modern and while they sometimes show dignity they more often altogether lack the carnival spirit.

Mrs. White's costume was of the early Spanish period, fashioned with a short skirt of yellow satin and a bodice of red velvet. A black lace mantilla completed the costume. Her attendants were Miss Perrotti and Pierettes in black, white and blue.

NARROW SKIRT TODAY IS EFFECTIVE.

And apropos of clothes, all our well-known women who have been East have returned with many lovely designs in the way of clothes, and their friends are very frankly studying results. Indeed, the whole question in American clothes seems to concern the narrow skirt. And to begin with, the noble skirt, in its real condition, which means a tightening of the full skirt into a band around the ankle, is tedious.

It has gone out everywhere. The narrow skirt of today is along very different lines, and is much more artistic and picturesque, with the fascinating scanty Directorate look. It gives symmetry to the figure. It hangs in a straight line no matter what the weather may be. Its shortness shows a well-shod foot and when it is made of moiré, it is as easy to walk in as a wide skirt, and is much more graceful.

Among the especially becoming gowns that one sees in these October lays, at teas or at bridge, are those worn by Mrs. James Allen, Mrs. Minor Goodall, Mrs. Frank Lampson Brown, Mrs. William White, Mrs. Frederick Morse, Mrs. Frederick Stolp, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Harry Knowles, Mrs. E. R. Folger, Mrs. Robert Knight, Mrs. Granville Abbott, Mrs. Mark Requa, Mrs. Tom Magee, Mrs. Montell Taylor, Mrs. Harry Maxwell, Mrs. Willard Williamson, Mrs. W. E. Dargle and Miss Berenice Macdonald.

McNEARS HAVE GONE TO EUROPE.

Mrs. George McNear, Miss Elizabeth McNear, and Miss Elizabeth Sherman left recently for the east and Europe, intending to spend some months in travel. Miss McNear has an exceptionally fine voice and she will have opportunities for study abroad. The McNear home on Linden street has been closed for the winter.

MRS. BOARDMAN GUEST OF MRS. SNOWDEN.

Mrs. Blanche Boardman and her daughter, Florence, have returned from Europe where they spent a very delightful summer. While abroad they were entertained by the Antoine Borels at the latter's country place in Switzerland.

Mrs. Boardman and her daughter were recently the guests of Mrs. Frederick Snowden (Carolyn Palmanteer) at her home in Mill Valley, which she has taken for the winter.

ROSBOROUGH IN PARIS.

Letters received from Mrs. Alexander Rosborough, and her son Joseph Rosborough, report an exceedingly interesting trip and in one of the letters to a friend here, Mr. Rosborough writes:

"While in Paris we saw Mrs. John L. Howard, and her daughter, Mrs. Schoonmaker (Jean Howard). We also saw Mrs. Henshaw, and at the American club met Mary San Francisco people. Do you remember 'Jimmy' Archibald? Well, I ran into him in Paris. He is special correspondent for Leslie's Weekly, and he has had quite a career since leaving Oakland. In Vienna we met Mrs. H. K. Belden and her daughter, Miss Nadine Belden, who are spending some time there.

"While in Munich I heard Maud Fay of San Francisco sing Elizabeth in 'Tannhauser'. She has created a furor here in Europe. David Bispham told me at the Bohemian club jinks—up in the prove this year—that she was the coming American singer of Europe. In some ways, I think, she is as fine as Galski, whom I heard in the same role, although her voice is not as yet, as matured.

"We were entertained by her while in Munich and were also her guests at the opera."

"We saw the last production of the Passio Play at Opera mercuria, and were very deeply impressed. It was well worth our long pilgrimage from California. It was wonderful beyond description, and doubly so when you realize that they are but peasants with such limited resources. All things considered, it was the most marvelous production I have ever seen."

INTERESTING LUNCHEON AT THE HOME CLUB.

A most interesting luncheon was given today at the Home club, when the Collegiate Alumnae made Miss Cornelia McKinnon their guest of honor. A delightful luncheon was served, and the after-luncheon program was among the best that has been presented by any club this season. It was especially interesting in that it carried the audience far afield. One felt "personally conducted" along European by-ways.

Miss Lillian Martin, assistant professor of psychology at Stanford, told of travels and experiences in Germany. Mrs. Aurelia Ielhardt gave an interesting account of travels in Spain, and one enjoyed a delightful trip through Italy under the leadership of Miss Jane Gay Lodge.

The musical program was well planned, and exceedingly well rendered.

PLEASANT AFFAIR AT THE EBELL.

One of the largest audiences of the season was assembled at the Ebell club on Tuesday evening, to witness the presentation of two farces written by two of Ebell's light members, Elizabeth Gray Potter and Elizabeth Griswold Rowe.

The Ebell club is very proud of its literary section, which has done exceedingly good work in short story writing, and also in dramatic lines.

It was the evening of the "Original Writers" and the hostess of the reception was Mrs. Charles H. Rowe, whose splendid two act farce was one of the features of the evening's entertainment.

"The Reformers" was written by Mrs. Frederick Wirt Potter (Elizabeth Gray), who has had published several short stories of unusual merit. The cast of characters was as follows: Everett Holden, a bridegroom..... H. M. Hastings Jack Field, engaged to Helen..... John McMullen Valentine Van Dyke, a wealthy clubman..... John Rankin Dorothy Holden, a bride..... Mrs. Harrie Taylor Helen Wilson, an engaged girl..... Miss Irene Farrell Geraldine Van Dyke, a wealthy young married woman..... Miss Cleo Posey

Maggie, the maid, Mrs. H. M. Hastings "The Reformers" derived its name from the fact of the young home keepers listening to "the wall of the millions"—refuse to use either meat or eggs, in preparing the menus of the daily routine.

The part of the young bride, experimenting in early home keeping, was admirably taken by Mrs. Harrie Taylor (Ruth Woodbury), one of the best amateur actresses on the coast. The dinner prepared for guests under trying difficulties, was very full of laughable incidents, and Mrs. Potter's farce was in every way successful.

The second farce, "Cordelia's Chance," was given in two acts, with the following cast:

Dr. Evans..... Dr. Harry Carlton Mr. John Rankin..... Rosister Mikel Ernest Waterbury, an architect..... Harris C. Allen Mrs. John Rankin..... Miss Margaret Knox Cordelia Rankin, John's sister..... Miss Georgia Cope Lena, the German maid..... Mrs. W. L. Jones

"Cordelia" was the invalid of the house—who was really not an invalid at all, only needing to have healthful activities put into her life.

And so the good doctor plans these many activities, and Cordelia has her chance—and she marries the good doctor, who has known how to plan so wisely.

Doctor Harry Carlton made a splendid doctor—carrying off well the part of the physician who is sometimes such a good friend of the family. His acting was along very clever lines, far beyond that of ordinary amateur work. Indeed, Mrs. Rowe was very fortunate in finding her farce in such exceedingly able hands.

Harris Allen as the English architect was the cultured, polished, brilliant man of the world, whose epigrams are spiced with wit.

Mr. Harris is a Stanford graduate

—one who has had much experience in dramatic productions at college.

Miss Margaret Knox carried off many honors for her rare self-possession, and the admirable way in which she interpreted her part, bringing out all its subtle fun, and its bright touches. She was a charming study, with a most unique personality and she was very exquisitely gowned.

Miss Georgia Cope was "Cordelia"—who had not much to do but to look interesting, and she did that very well, indeed.

HARRY BUTTERS IS GETTING BETTER.

Harry Butters, who has been exceedingly ill of pneumonia, is now greatly improved. Mr. Butters has been ill at the Key Route Inn, where he has been staying with his brother-in-law and his sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. Augustus Bray.

The Brays, with Mr. Butters who is now convalescent, are planning to spend the winter across the bay.

HOSSESSES OF NEXT WEEK.

Among the hostesses of next week will be Miss Jennie Stone, who is residing permanently across the bay. Miss Stone is to entertain next Monday at an informal tea, to be given in the Laurel Court of the Fairmont.

Her guest of honor will be Miss Hilda Stedman, an eastern girl, who is being extensively entertained across the bay.

Miss Stone will also entertain this winter for her niece, Miss Harriet Stone, one of the debutantes of the season.

The latter is to be the guest of honor at a large tea, which Miss Anna Olney will give in her honor across the bay, on the afternoon of October 27.

GLADYS COURTAIN TO BE MARRIED.

Mrs. Helen Courtain has sent out invitations for the wedding of her daughter, Gladys, and John Alexander Britton Jr., the marriage to take place at the bride's home on the evening of Thursday, October 27.

The Courtains have a delightful home in Berkeley, and Mrs. Gladys Courtain has been identified with so-dial life there. She is a very charming girl, and a graduate of the State university.

The Courtains formerly lived in Oakland and were prominent members of the Unitarian church, and much interested in Starr King fraternity affairs.

The John Brittons have made their home for a long time now in San Francisco, but the friendships for Oakland friends are still warm, and deep, and sincere. Hon. John Britton, the father of the groom-elect, is a well known regent of the State University, and one of the most prominent business men of the state.

Miss Courtain has planned a home wedding, her guest list including for the most part relatives and very intimate friends. Among the relatives of the groom-elect, are Mr. and Mrs. John Britton, Dr. and Mrs. Keefe of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson Kellogg, Mr. and Mrs. Van Britton and Emmett Britton. The latter will be his brother's best man.

The young people are to make their home in Oakland, where Mr. Britton is beginning his business career.

And our wishes for the young couple, the happy ending of the fairy tale—"And they lived happy ever after."

MRS. CHANSLOR RETURNS.

Mrs. Joseph Chanslor has returned from Europe where she spent the entire summer. Mrs. Chanslor spent some time at Bad Nauheim, and at Karlsbad and many weeks were passed in London and Paris. Mrs. Chanslor and her friends also enjoyed a delightful motor trip through England, and she returns to California much improved in health.

IN HONOR OF MRS. LYNCH.

Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Moffitt were dinner hosts of last week, entertaining a large company of friends in honor of Mrs. John Hampton Lynch (Lucy Moffitt), who is here from the east. Mrs. Lynch is spending some time with her mother, Mrs. James Moffitt, at the latter's beautiful Piedmont home.

FIRST ST. FRANCIS CONCERT.

The first concert for the season of the St. Francis Musical Society proved the first gathering of the clans of San Francisco society and was a very gay social event as well as a most satisfactory one musically. It was undoubtedly

RHEINSTROM WIFE OF DR. O. B. SPALDING CHARGES EXTREME CRUELTY

Edna Loftus' Husband to Face Lunacy Commission On Monday.

Strapped to Cot in Receiving Hospital, Patient Talks Calmly of His Case.

Although strapped down to a cot in a strong room of the detention department of the Receiving hospital to guard against any possibility of his attacking the attendants in an attempt to escape, Harry A. Rheinstrom, husband of Edna Loftus, the English music hall singer, exhibited sufficient lucidity this morning to declare that he will make a hard fight in the superior court to prevent his commitment to a state insane asylum. Judge William H. Wente has set the young man's hearing before a lunacy commissioner for Monday morning at which time Rheinstrom stated an attorney will be on hand to demand a jury trial.

Following his last sensational escape from the Lowell sanatorium at Fruitvale Thursday night, young Rheinstrom was taken to San Francisco. Dr. Frank S. Lowell, who conducts the private treatment for the patient, to the city and locating the youth on F street, yesterday morning turned him over to Policeman Noble who took him to the city prison.

BROUGHT FROM SAN FRANCISCO

Dr. Lowell told the San Francisco authorities that upon leaving his sanatorium, Rheinstrom was in a state of mind to do anything. He was taken to the city prison and placed in a cell. The doctor stated that he had no other choice but to commit the patient to the city prison. The doctor stated that he had no other choice but to commit the patient to the city prison.

DODGED TALL BUILDINGS

From a plot to kill the tall buildings, Rheinstrom's flight to the city prison was a desperate one. He was taken to the city prison and placed in a cell. The doctor stated that he had no other choice but to commit the patient to the city prison.

WIFE OF DR. O. B. SPALDING CHARGES EXTREME CRUELTY

Helpmeet of Prominent Physician Obtains Decree, Testifying Behind Closed Doors That Husband Beat Her Repeatedly and on One Occasion Broke Her Nose

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Behind closed doors, and with every effort possible being made to keep the affair secret, Mrs. Agnes Spalding, the wife of Dr. O. B. Spalding, a prominent physician of this city, testified in Judge Cabaniss' court this morning to the extreme cruelty of her spouse and obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce.

CASE KEPT QUIET

When the papers were first filed they were kept out of the reach of the newspapers, and the case being set for hearing at 9:30 this morning it was thought that the whole thing could be hushed up.

Mrs. Spalding told of the alleged harshness of her spouse toward her, citing specifically an instance at Boyes springs this summer, when on her remonstrating with him and endeavoring to get him to accompany her to their cottage, he struck her repeatedly.

On another occasion, he broke her nose, she said, and he was in the habit of using his fist upon her on the slightest provocation.

APPEARS IN COURT

Mrs. Spalding is still a young woman and was simply her husband's utilized when she appeared on the witness stand. She spoke in a low tone of voice and it was with difficulty that the exact purport of her words could be understood.

Her statements were corroborated by a friend who accompanied her, Mrs. Emma Hall.

It is understood that the property interests have been settled out of court, but the wife was allowed $200 costs and $75 monthly alimony.

SEES DANGER BARS DANCING FOR PARTY IN ROOSEVELT

Foraker Declares Republicans Are Beseet by Foes in All Directions.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—Politicians here are stirred up over a speech of former Senator J. B. Foraker delivered today at Marietta, Ohio, in opposing the Republican state campaign.

He discussed the insurgent movement endorsed the administration of President Taft and pleaded for the election of the Republican state and congressional ticket in Ohio in his address here today.

Foraker said:

"If there is nothing more involved in this contest than a choice between men no one need be seriously concerned as to the outcome."

BOTH GOOD MEN

"The candidates for Governor are both fair and able minded men of high character. Even unusual praise might be spoken of both without injury to either for neither would be a true or conscious ally of any interest of the state to suffer."

But there is a great deal more involved in this contest than a choice between two men.

It is not only fighting for victory but it is fighting for life. It is beset by foes both within and without. It is not only a contest of strength but it is a contest of endurance.

Principal Dunbar Declares Folk Displays Lead to the Stage.

"Folk dancing is too spectacular and leads to the stage," declares S. G. Dunbar, principal of the Durant school, who today stated that he will not permit the popular folk dances to be introduced into that school as it is in vogue in the majority of the institutions of learning throughout the Eastern as well as the Western States.

"I do not approve of spectacular shows for children as it takes their minds off their school work and is very expensive for the parents."

I believe in healthy sport and recreation, but I do not believe in folk dancing. There are many forms of diversion in this school and I think the girls can get along nicely without dancing.

WILL REFUSE

"So far there has been no request for folk dancing in the school and I hope there will not be any more. I shall have to refuse the introduction of the European dances."

The children nowadays have too many things that distract their minds from the school work and there are too many outside school activities which use up the physical as well as the mental strength of the child.

The boys and girls have basketball, handball and baseball teams and enter into these games, which I do not object to. On the contrary I encourage healthy sport.

NOTHING HARMFUL

There is nothing harmful in these games. I will allow the children to engage in them. I admit they may enjoy some form of athletics but I will develop them physically and in a more proper manner and manner.

Some form of athletic activity is necessary among the boys and girls and under proper supervision they will prove beneficial, but not folk dancing.

PRINCE FRANCIS OF TECK DIES

Prince Francis of Teck, whose death occurred today.

Attack of Pleurisy Fatal Despite Attention of Doctors

LONDON, Oct. 22.—After an illness from pleurisy that extended over some time, and which baffled the efforts of a number of the royal physicians, Prince Francis of Teck, brother of Queen Mary, died shortly after 11 o'clock this morning.

King George and his queen were at the bedside when the end came, having been called from the place last night, when it was seen that death was near. The queen, whose relations with her brother have been of a close and warm nature, was deeply affected by the shock and had to be supported from the chamber.

Official information of the demise has been sent out to the heads of every royal family and it is expected that King Albert and his queen and their mother will come to England to attend the funeral.

Prince Francis of Teck was one of the best known of the British royal family. He was noted for his philanthropy and his knowledge of affairs of state and his counsel was often sought by the king.

SICK MAN IN OPEN BOAT FIGHTS TO DIE

Italian Fisherman Raving in Delirium Is Exposed to the Elements for 24 Hours.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Silk, as he believed upon death and anxious that the grim reaper should come and end his suffering delirium from pain and temporary loss of his mind, a fisherman, Caligari, an Italian fisherman, remained for twenty-four hours on his boat at Fishermen's wharf, defying the efforts of his companions to rescue him and becoming more and more frantic as time passed.

After several ineffectual efforts had been made, his companions obtained permission to take him to the hospital.

Caligari resides with his family at 1245 Bay street.

Cardinal Men Outweigh Sage Brush Opponents, Who Are Reported Speedy.

BERKELEY, Oct. 22.—Continuing the practice games interrupted by the annual freshmen contest last Saturday the University of California fifteen met the Olympic club team on California field today.

The Olympic team was strengthened by the addition of several college veterans who were unable to play in the last game between the two fifteens.

The teams lined up as follows: California—Forwards: Phleggen, Markwart, Pauly, Ashley, Hardy, Jordan, Hardie and Emerson.

Half back: Elliott and Stroud. Three-quarters: Allen, Peart and Dills. Full back: Dwiglins.

Olympic—Backs: Briggs, Sharpe, Hunt, Gouge, McKenzie, Laumelster, Meyer, Parker.

Forwards: Hickey, Pemberton, Molloy, Goodell, Skov, Tverbridge, Wiest, Walbach, Haley, Dolan, Aguirre, Brown.

Stanford and Nevada Are Fighting It Out

RENO, Oct. 22.—With an ideal day and the assurance of a record breaking crowd the Rugby football teams of the University of Nevada and Stanford university awaited the sound of the whistle for the annual inter-collegiate game on Mackay A. C. field today.

This was the first appearance of a Stanford football team in Reno in several years.

The visitors outweigh the Nevada team several pounds to the man, but the Nevadans are fast players. Stanford expects an easy victory while Nevada is equally confident of success.

The two fifteens line up as follows:

Stanford. Position. Nevada. Brown..... full back..... Charles Kern..... three-quarters..... Finney Sanborn..... three-quarters..... Randall Gelsinger..... three-quarters..... McPhail Mitchell..... five-eighths..... Delahide Thoburn..... five-eighths..... Elcher Ede..... half back..... Harsborough Woodcock..... forward..... Lavett Cheda..... forward..... REAL ESTATE MEN AID HUMPHREYS Declare Deal Alleged to Have Been Fraudulent Was in Good Faith.

ALAMEDA, Oct. 22.—Robert Mott and Eugene Davis of the Alameda Land Company defend William Humphreys, real estate dealer and trader, charged with felony by Oliver Kehrlein, a realty dealer of San Francisco.

"I have done a great deal of business with Humphreys," said Mott today, "and he has always given me a square deal. Kehrlein was not hurt by that trade. His property in San Francisco was covered by a 'phony' lease. Humphreys traded in an apartment house in Chicago for the San Francisco property. The trade was a bad one for both parties. Neither made anything out of it, but Kehrlein should have known enough to let the thing drop at that."

"I know that Kehrlein tried to obtain a warrant from District Attorney Pickens' office as many as forty times, but it was denied each time, after the district attorney had heard the details of the trade. Then Kehrlein came to Oakland and got the warrant for the arrest of Humphreys and Mrs. Gillis, who are being employed by Humphreys, without any hearing of the specific charge. The case will undoubtedly be dismissed."

Mott stated that Humphreys had traded a ranch of 6000 acres in Danville, Contra Costa county, with him for property in San Mateo and a lot on Park street for the Dana home on Central avenue and Park street.

"I got the best of both of these deals," said Mott, "and if I had gotten the worst of the trade, no one would have known about it."

Davis stated that he had had business with Humphreys, but that it had always been legitimate.

Alameda Personals

ALAMEDA, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Ernest D. Potter has sent out invitations for a big bridge party for Thursday, October 27, in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Edward Hall Dodge and Mrs. Franklin Noah Dewey. The affair will be given in her home in San Jose avenue.

Mrs. C. M. Gardner was a recent hostess at a bridge party at her home on Versailles avenue in honor of Mrs. W. C. Jones, wife of Lieutenant Jones, U. S. A. Mrs. Jones is the guest of Mrs. Edward Morgan. Her home is in Seattle.

Mrs. J. H. White and her daughters, Miss Edith and Miss Helen White, have returned from their summer home at Lakeview and have reopened their house on Lincoln avenue.

MOTORDROME SITE IS DENIED TO PROMOTERS

ELMHURST, Oct. 22.—The plans that have been under consideration for the last year for the erection of a large motordrome on the Kerwin ranch in Elmhurst have suddenly fallen flat through the refusal of Miss Alice Kerwin, owner of the ranch, to grant the necessary lease to a tract of land large enough for the purpose.

In the early part of the year a party of Elmhurst and San Francisco businessmen began negotiations for the lease. Miss Kerwin announced her final answer today and stated that it would be of no use for the men to attempt to persuade her to give the necessary lease to the land.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU MAY BE ABOLISHED

TACOMA, Oct. 22.—Laboringmen of Tacoma, Seattle and other cities will present a petition to the next legislative session asking that a law be passed to abolish all employment agencies in the state except the municipal free employment bureau.

Promoters of the movement assert that some of the mill and manufacturing companies are in league with the employment agencies and receive half of the $2 that each laborer pays for a job.

WHEELER'S BOOK IS IN GERMAN

University of California President Issues Berlin Lectures From Strassburg Press.

BERKELEY, Oct. 22.—The lectures which President Wheeler delivered at the University of Berlin last winter have just appeared in book form from the press of Karl Trubner at Strassburg, Germany. The book is entitled "Education and Democracy in America," and is in German.

The first sentence in the opening lecture on public opinion gives a clue to the general content and purpose of the whole series: "The source of all power in the United States is public opinion," and the sources of public opinion are outlined in the book as the colleges, the universities, the schools, the churches and the press.

The lectures appear just as they were written in June and July, 1909, and delivered in the winter of 1909-10. President Wheeler says in his preface that "the temptation to an apprehension on that result would have been neither lectures nor book."

The only differences between the written and the spoken lecture are verbal changes "introduced on kind" and expert advice in respect toward certain technical rights of the German vernacular."

Pleasanton News

PLEASANTON, Oct. 22.—The school children of Pleasanton moved from the old building into the new public school last week. The new building was on the old mission style and cost $25,000.

GOVERNMENT TO BUILD $7,750,000 STRUCTURES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—A massive aquarium for the fisheries bureau, a magnificent state dining-room and a comprehensive law library system are among the features of a trio of great department buildings, to cost an aggregate of $7,750,000, soon to be erected in Washington under three architectural competitions announced today.

The competitions are for the selection of architects of the buildings for the departments of state, justice and commerce and labor, respectively, under the authorizations limiting the expenditures $2,000,000, $1,900,000 and $3,650,000. The buildings will be erected just south of the Treasury building.

The competitions, which will close December 30 and will be passed on by an expert committee of award, will be participated in by architects in New York, Washington, San Francisco, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, St. Louis, Detroit, Cleveland, Omaha and Columbus.

"The public will be welcome at these lectures. They will occur on Wednesday at 4 o'clock, in room 113 California hall, beginning October 25."

PEOPLE WITHOUT POWER TO APPOINT

Berkeley Mayor Replies to the Threat to Use Initiative in Behalf of Fire Chief.

BERKELEY, Oct. 22.—The lack of power on the part of the people to employ the initiative in effecting the appointment of any person to municipal office is pointed out in a letter sent today by Mayor Hodghead to P. Grant, president of the Central Improvement Club of Berkeley. In answer to that organization's demand that Fire Chief J. Kenney be reappointed permanently, the city council yesterday referred to the mayor the club's communication and its proposed ordinance providing for the appointment of Kenney to the council, or by means of the charter initiative, to cause the municipal legislature failed to act in a manner desired by the improvement body.

Mayor Hodghead's letter is as follows: Mr. W. P. Grant, President, Central Improvement Club, 1735 Addison street, Berkeley, California.

Dear Sir: The council received your resolution demanding the appointment of Mr. Kenney. The people have by the charter vested the power and duty of appointing the chief officials of the city exclusively in the council. In making such appointments we are always glad to have the views of citizens and are desirous of obtaining all the information we can concerning the qualifications of the possible appointees. But you will realize that an imperative demand for the appointment of a particular person is so entirely contrary to the system of government which the charter was designed to inaugurate that it could receive but little consideration, whether such person be approved by the council or not. It is a gratifying fact that most of the people have appreciated and observed this spirit.

Very truly yours,
BEVERLY L. HODGHEAD,
Mayor.

TYPHOID CLAIMS YOUTHFUL VICTIM

BERKELEY, Oct. 22.—Charles Raymond Sykes, aged 19, son of C. J. Sykes, a building contractor of 1829 Dwight way, died last night at Pablos hospital of typhoid fever, after a five weeks' illness. The young man had been employed by a cement firm. He was a native of Illinois. The funeral will be held Monday.

GREATEST MEDICINE ON EARTH

A prominent citizen of Evansville, Ind., writes: "I was ill for three months with a pulmonary trouble, and had the best of doctors. I had hemorrhages and was in a very bad way. Through the advice of a friend I tried Vinol, and I feel that it saved my life. It is all you recommend it to be. I believe it is the greatest medicine on earth. I have advised others to try Vinol, and they have had the same results." (Name furnished on request.)

We want every one in this vicinity who is troubled with chronic colds—coughs—or pulmonary troubles—to come to our store and get a bottle of Vinol.

If it does not go to the sea of trouble—heat the inflammation and stop the cough—we will cheerfully return every cent paid us for it. This shows our faith—and proves that you take no chances. Do you mean it? Come and see. The Owl Drug Co., Oakland, Cal.

Locals Get Plenty of Hits, but Poor Box Work Causes Them to Taste Bitterness of Defeat for Third Time This Week

Sure, Oakland never should have lost yesterday's game. And it wouldn't be fair to blame all the boys for the disaster, for some of them did try real good and hard to bring home the long end of the score. It was the pitching though, that beat Wolverton out of fame and glory. Willis was all in, out and down and had nothing to deceive the Senators. Bill Harbins was like Willis, and there you are.
